

TAKES A TURN FOR THE WORSE

Disease Has Spread to the Other Lung of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

IS NOW WEAKER

He is Unconscious the Greater Part of the Time—Alarm of Physicians.

AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Granton, Feb. 10.—At noon the boy was said to be holding his own. The crisis will be reached within the next thirty-six hours. The president realizes that the fate of his boy hangs in the balance but is bearing up bravely today.

Graton, Mass., Feb. 10.—The condition of young Roosevelt took a turn for the worse this morning. At 9:15 it was announced that the disease had spread to the other lung. The temperature was increased and respiration became less favorable. The pulse was a little better.

Young Roosevelt is now nearing the critical stage of his disease. He has grown much weaker in the last 24 hours and any complications now would be highly dangerous.

The boy is unconscious the greater part of the time. Secretary Cortelyou says the president's son is in no immediate danger. But the attending physicians have noticed with alarm the symptoms of almost exactly the same as those of another student who died a few days ago.

At the White House Washington, Feb. 10.—Business at the White House is practically at a stand still. The only callers are those who drop in to inquire for the latest from Graton. The telephone and telegraph wires are busy with messages of inquiry and information regarding the condition of the president's son.

President at Graton Graton, Mass., Feb. 10.—President Roosevelt's son Teddy is a sick boy. The president, who arrived early yesterday afternoon, and who expected to return to Washington last night has canceled his contemplated trip to the Charleston exposition and will remain at his son's bedside until the crisis is passed.

The president reached this decision after a private conference with Drs. Shattuck and Warren.

"Is he dangerously ill?" Mr. Cortelyou was asked this morning.

"He is dangerously ill, only as pneumonia is a dangerous disease, and as the boy has not passed the critical stage he has not been unconscious, and at no time has he been delirious. The president will probably remain at least two days, and I cannot say definitely when he will go."

Mr. Cortelyou was asked which lung was affected. He replied: "I would rather not say, I don't know."

President Roosevelt's arrival at the bedside of his son in the hospital of the Graton school at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

It was a mud bespattered president that hurried on the stairs to the room in which his boy was lying ill. At the head of the stairs, the wife of the president stood to give him welcome and an encouraging reassuring smile. Together they entered the sick room, where Dr. William B. Warren, Dr. Shattuck, and the nurse were in attendance. The head of the nation stepped to the bedside, and as he saw him "Teddy, Jr." sat up in bed and put his arms around his father's neck.

The boy showed his delight at seeing his father in the hug he gave him. He whispered in the president's ear as he laid his head back on the pillow. The son seemed anxious to impress his father with the conviction that he was not seriously sick.

No Time Fixed For Return The decision of the president to remain in consequence of what he had seen in his son's appearance and what he had been told by the doctors. The only inference to be drawn as to the seriousness of the information given by the physicians is the fact that the president deferred his return to Washington after the conference.

The president and Mrs. Roosevelt are staying at the home of Mr. William Amory Gardner, a brother of Mrs. John L. Gardner of Boston. Mr. Gardner has a large new house on the edge of the Graton school grounds and has placed it at their service. The president is accompanied only by his secretary, Cortelyou and Secret Service Agents Tyree and Craig.

LIVING EXPENSES USE UP HIS SALARY

Washington, Feb. 10.—In continuing his testimony before the senate Philippines committee this morning Governor Taft said one of the great reasons Taft made a large revenue necessary was the cost of constructing schools. Taft denied the commission was extravagant. He said that out of his salary of $20,000 dollars last year, he had only $1,500 left, the remainder being spent for living expenses, the only allowance granted him being a residence in Malacanang. He added that on account of the high cost of living it was necessary to pay good salaries to lawyers who came from America to take positions in the judicial department.

DE WET OUTWITS THE BRITISH ARMY

Although Surrounded on All Sides the Boer Leader Escapes to Safety—Rushes the Line.

London, Feb. 10.—From Wolvehoek Lord Kitchener today telegraphed a long description of a combined movement of the numerous British columns with the object of crushing General De Wet.

Lord Kitchener says the advance began the night of February 4, the whole force moving from the various directions and forming a continuous line of mounted men on the west bank of Lienenberg's Vlei, from Paukfort as far south as Fanny's home and thence to Kaffraskof. The line then advanced to the west and the following night the British entrenched their outposts fifty yards apart. They held the line from Holland, on the Heilbron-Frankfort blockhouse line to Doornkloof, on the Kroonstad-Lindley blockhouse line, while the columns were also working in advance of the blockhouse line to prevent De Wet's crossing.

The advance was continued Feb. 6 and Det Wet was within the enclosure, but realizing his position, he ordered his men to disperse and seek safety in flight during the night. De Wet himself, with some men and a number of cattle, made for Kroonstad-Lindley blockhouse line, and at 1 o'clock in the morning, when it was very dark, by rushing his cattle at the fence, broke his way through the line, mixed up with the cattle, and having three men killed.

Many attempts were made to break through the line on the night of Feb. 7, reports Lord Kitchener, the line of outposts being attacked at various places throughout the night. But very few escaped, and ten dead Boers were picked up in the morning near Heilbron.

"I did not get exact details of the Boer casualties," continues Lord Kitchener, "but as far as I have ascertained they consist of 233 killed, wounded and prisoners, as well as about 700 tired horses and many cattle. Our casualties were only ten."

REBELS CONTINUE TO SURRENDER

Indications Show That the Filipino Bands Are Being Dispersed Rapidly—Junta is Alive.

Manila, Feb. 10.—The consistent campaign of re-concentration that is being carried on by General Bell is producing a steady influx of insurgents. During the past week twenty rebel officers and seven hundred men came in and surrendered. The usual increase in the number of surrenders indicates that the insurgent bands are becoming dispersed, while the individual rebels are beginning to see that the struggle is hopeless.

The Filipino junta at Hong Kong has during the past week made further attempts to revivify the rebels cause, and the provinces under civil rule as well as Manila, have been flooded with a quantity of pamphlets printed in Hong-Kong. These pamphlets are copies of a memorial by the junta, which has been forwarded to President Roosevelt. The memorial expresses sympathy at the death of Mr. McKinley, and assures the American people that sooner or later the Filipinos are bound to have independence.

The junta says it has reliable information that most of the pacified provinces are only held in check by superior military forces. The pamphlets say that the educated Filipinos appreciate American governmental ideas, but when the bread of national life is asked that it does not suffice to offer a stone, even though that stone be a diamond.

FOUND HER BODY IN VACANT HOUSE

San Francisco Girl Who Disappeared Jan. 11, Found—Had Been Dead Two Weeks.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 10.—The body of 16-year-old Nora Fuller, who has been missing since January 11, was found yesterday in the vacant house at 2211 Sutter street. An autopsy reveals the fact that death could only have resulted from murder, presumably strangulation.

The house was devoid of furniture save a little back bedroom on the second floor, where only a cheap bed and wooden chair were found. On the bed lay the body of the missing girl covered with quilts, her head on a pillow. She had been dead probably two weeks.

A man signing the name of C. B. Hawkins rented the flat for a month January 9. The description of the man that purchased the furniture of a second-hand dealer tallies with that of the man who called at the Golden West Hotel for mail under the name of John Bennett, who advertised for a girl to work in a private family, and to answer the advertisement Nora left her home the evening of Jan. 11.

"Bennett" has not been located. The body was found by a rent collector. The girl was identified by her mother, who has been half frantic since her disappearance.

IS MADE INSANE BY 150 DRINKS

F. W. Stephenson Forced to Surrender by Mob—Law Threat.

MURDERER IN JAIL

Kills Jefferson County Deputy Sheriff and Attempts Life of His Wife.

STORY OF THE CRIME

Waterloo, Wis., Feb. 10.—After uttering the threat, "I'll kill the first man who tries to take me," Fred W. Stephenson, who Saturday night shot and instantly killed Deputy Sheriff William Cooper, was induced to surrender yesterday morning on the strength of the statement that if he did not put himself in the hands of the law he would be lynched. This was a ruse employed by Sheriff Gorlick of Jefferson to avoid flight.

The scene of his surrender was the home of John Parker, five miles north of here, where Stephenson went after shooting at his wife, shooting Joseph Blaskich in the jaw and murdering the deputy sheriff when he attempted to arrest him.

Sheriff Gorlick was informed of Stephenson's presence at the Parker home, and with Deputies Burns and Davies, undertook his capture. Stephenson, anticipating their visit, halted them from a window with the threat mentioned and with a revolver in either hand. The parley ensued, in which he was told that a mob had been organized, and that his only escape from it was the safety of the Jefferson jail.

Under this argument he yielded, extracted the shells from his revolver, and tossed them out of the window at the feet of the officers. A moment later he allowed himself to be handcuffed. A fresh team of horses was given the sheriff, and a hasty drive was made to Jefferson where he was placed in jail.

In a statement made after he was incarcerated Stephenson said he was sorry, and that it was not his intention to kill Deputy Sheriff Cooper, but that it was his intention to kill his wife and Blaskich if she refused to leave his home and live with him.

Says He Took 150 Drinks of Whiskey Jefferson, Wis., Feb. 10.—Fred W. Stephenson of Waterloo, who Saturday night shot and killed Deputy Sheriff William Cooper, shot Joe Blaskich and fired on his wife was lodged in the county jail today. He says he must have been crazy and that he remembers little of what he took last night. He says that he took at least 150 drinks of whiskey on Saturday and that they made him crazy.

The reason he gives for attempting to kill his wife is that she repeatedly refused his advances toward a reconciliation and that he went there to force her to do something at the point of the gun.

He was arraigned before Justice W. H. Porter of this city this morning and the hearing was adjourned until tomorrow morning as the district attorney will attend the inquest at Waterloo. The sheriff receives the reward of $200 offered by the village of Waterloo for Stephenson's capture.

Magazine Man Arrested. Galesburg, Ill., Feb. 10.—The grand jury has returned an indictment against O. P. Gates of Knoxville, charging him with trying to dispose of a house by lottery and of selling lottery tickets.

Several months ago Gates secured an option on one of the handsomest houses in Galesburg. He then began taking subscriptions for a magazine for $1 a year. On the receipt was a stub giving the holders a chance on the residence.

FLASH OF 150 MILES IS TAKEN MARCONI SYSTEM IS IMPROVING

Record is Broken for the Longest Communication by Sea or Land of the Wireless Telegraphy—Many Messages Are Exchanged.

New York, Feb. 10.—The steamship Philadelphia of the American line which arrived today, broke the record for having the longest communication with the land by means of the Marconi wireless telegraph system.

On Saturday, Feb. 1, the steamship was at 12:15 a few miles off the Lizard. Messages were then exchanged and the telegraphing was kept up until midnight of the following day. The last message was sent when the Philadelphia was 150 miles distant from the land. This last message was a communication from the American officials in England to Captain A. P. Mills of the Philadelphia. This is the longest distance in which wireless communication has ever been had between a steamship and the land.

Because of the severe weather the Philadelphia had to put into Cherbourg, where she was delayed for over sixteen hours. The Marconi system was continually working while the vessel was lying to, the connections at Rheims being perfect.

The Cunard steamer Lucania reached her docks in this city yesterday with Captain Alexander McKay, who has succeeded his brother, Captain Horatio McKay, former commodore of the Cunard fleet, retired, on the bridge. When twenty-four miles off the Sandy Hook lightship at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the Lucania sighted a four-masted schooner sunk, with only her spars showing above the water.

A flag, which could not be made out from the Cunard, was lying from the schooner's mizzen. Captain McKay stood down toward the wreck until he was able to make out that no one was clinging to the masts. An hour later he passed a derelict, which he took to be a coal hulk, floating about fourteen miles east of the lightship.

The operator in the charge of the Marconi plant on the ship held a wireless telegraph for several hours, during which something over a hundred telegrams were interchanged to be sent from the Lizard and Nantucket lightships, respectively, to friends of passengers on the ship.

FEARFUL SCENE AT PATERSON

Heart of Business Center Wiped Out by a Terrible Fire.

MANY OUT OF WORK

Over 500 Business Buildings and Residences Were Destroyed by Flames.

LOSS IS TEN MILLIONS

Patterson, N. J., Feb. 10.—The citizens and officials started in with a vim this morning to bring order out of the chaos created by Sunday's great fire. Dawn this morning found the militia men patrolling the devastated district.

During the night, despite the presence of the soldiers, pillagers were out. Three of them were taken into custody.

The fire is still burning in spots this morning but it is well under control and no further spreads are anticipated. Gangs of workmen were put to work early this morning trying to tear down threatening walls. Every train entering the city is crowded with sightseers. The burned area presents a remarkable sight. In the center it is a seething mass of steam and smoke while here and there a tongue of flame shoots upwards.

There is no serious suffering so far among those whose homes were destroyed all being temporarily cared for by the householders who escaped the flames.

Loss Ten Million Patterson, N. J., Feb. 10.—Patterson's business district has been wiped out by flames. In addition 500 houses and apartment buildings are but heaps of ashes or glowing embers. One thousand families are homeless. The acres of desolation marking the path of the uncontrollable fire that razed sixteen blocks were covered with buildings which with their contents were valued at $10,000,000.

Their city hall, fire and police stations, five churches, six banks, seven office buildings, five clubhouses, one theater, two newspaper offices, two big telegraph establishments and twenty-five large stores actually melted as a fierce gale tossed firebrands hither and thither.

No perishable thing could withstand the mighty wall of fire as it moved forward. Firemen and fire apparatus were helpless.

Over the smoking ruins militiamen are standing guard. Thieves are abroad and the property that remains must be protected.

Market law has reigned since 7 o'clock Sunday for early in the afternoon Mayor John Hinchliffe proclaimed that no person except those having authority should be on the street after that hour.

The great factories of the city are still unharmed. Relief stations have been opened and those who escaped loss have subscribed nobly to aid those who have lost their all. Little relief has been asked as yet and the officials think no outside assistance will be needed.

So far as known there has been no loss of life, and few serious injuries have been reported. Hundreds barely had time to get beyond their own thresholds before the devouring fire seized and consumed the abandoned homes. There were hundreds of narrow escapes.

The night was one of the coldest of the winter. Once the fugitives were out of the peril of flames the heat became less intense, and in the safety zone it ceased entirely. Then the terror-stricken people shivered and shivered.

Incendiaries Accomplish Their Purpose in Destroying a Chicago Theater.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—No lives were lost in the fire which destroyed the Orpheon theater early this morning. It was thought a number of persons sleeping in the building failed to escape but all have been accounted for. The police and firemen are confident the fire was the work of incendiaries. Several hours after the flames were subdued open gas jets were found in various parts of the building. The firebugs have been trying to burn the building for years, no less than twenty attempts have been made to destroy it.

The body of an unknown newsboy was found in the ruins this noon. As a number of others were asleep with him in the building it is believed that more bodies will be found.

GREAT INCREASE OF SMALL POX

Washington, Feb. 10.—Reports received by the marine hospital service for the past week show that there are now 12,122 cases of smallpox in the United States against 4,359 at the same period last year.

JUNIOR PROM IS ON TONIGHT

The Social Event of the Season in State University Circles.

ALL ON QUI VIVE

The Great Gymnasium Has Been Converted Into a Veritable Fairyland.

OPENS WITH TWOSTEP

Madison, Wis., Feb. 10.—Nearly all those from out of town who will attend the "prom" tonight were here today and all this morning sleighing parties drove up and down the streets in the university end of the city. The house parties in ten of the fraternities are in full swing, and all of the students have given themselves over to the gaiety of the time. About 500 people will be in attendance tonight, and not only the society of the university but that of the state will be represented.

A Veritable Fairyland The huge gymnasium will be a veritable fairyland when the dancers are upon the floor. On the platform are chairs for the patronesses and patrons, while behind them is a ticket of palms.

The reception stand at the end of the gym will present the most beautiful effect, with its low Grecian appearance, supporting a dome which will fairly sparkle with small electric lights on Monday. There will be over 900 of these lights used on this stand, including those in the illumination "Wisconsin" over the proscenium, and the class numerals.

To Establish Precedents Today the social season of the university will be at its zenith. Compelled by force of circumstances to break the hitherto unbroken rule of holding the Junior promenade on the Friday after the examinations, at the close of the first semester of the year's work, the committee has left no stone unturned in its efforts to establish new precedents in other lines as well.

At the class selections last fall the engineers swept the board clean and hence all the arrangements for this event are in their hands, but it is only their due to say that they know well how to put in their time to good advantage and it will be strange if the engineers cannot set up something new and startling in the line of electrical displays.

SENATOR QUARLES' BILL UP TODAY

The Wisconsin Man Asks for the Undivided Consideration of His Censured Measure.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—The Philippine question will continue to hold foremost place on the senate calendar during the present week. Democratic senators say they will require several weeks more time in which to consider the measure. Senator Lodge, as chairman of the committee having the bill in charge, has not failed to impress upon them his intention of pressing it with the utmost despatch.

Senator Quarles reported the permanent census bill this morning before the Philippine bill was taken up and will make an effort to secure immediate consideration. If he succeeds the census bill probably will alternate with the Philippine bill for a few days. Senator Quarles hopes that the census bill may be passed without much delay.

GRAND OPERA FOR PRINCE HENRY

Committee at Work on Details of Costly Production in City of New York on Feb. 25.

New York, Feb. 10.—Maurice Grau, director of the Metropolitan Opera company, after a conference with the Opera committee of the Mayor's committee appointed in connection with the proposed visit of Prince Henry at the Metropolitan Opera House on the evening of Feb. 25.

The program will probably consist of the first act of "Lohengrin," the second act of "Carmen," the third act of "Aida," the second act of "Tannhauser," the first act of "La Traviata," and the third scene of "La Cida."

In this program each of the prima donnas and all of the great tenors of the Metropolitan company will take part.

The following schedule of prices will prevail: Orchestra chairs, $30; dress circle, $16; first rows in balcony, $12.50; rear rows in balcony, and family circle, $5. Admission with standing room will be $5.

FIERCE FIRE IN MASONIC BLOCK

Restaurant and Printing Office Sustained Losses—Lodge Room Losses Heavy at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 10.—This morning fire broke out in the Bee Printing office, situated in the basement of the Masonic building, totally destroying the contents of the office, valued at about $2,000. The newspaper plant was owned and operated by Messer Brothers.

A restaurant and club room owned by F. E. Day, occupying the first floor of the building was damaged to the extent of $50. The damage to the building including the lodge room losses is estimated at $2,500, covered by insurance.

Some Farm Notes.

What might appear as a "devil's lane" is excusable on some farms where barbed wire is the partition fence. To keep horses from fighting through the fence another may be built temporarily several feet away and prevent them being endangered. Even the devil himself has no use for the "devil's lane."

Most farmers engaged in raising hogs manage the business so as to only have one litter of pigs a year. Occasionally a man will be observed who is having good success in rearing two litters. He knows he has a good thing and is keeping still about it.

There is always something about a ranch of snow that farmers like to see. Not many of us know the manual value of snow, but past experience show that it is a good thing to have on the ground that it assures moisture and insures or less a protection to winter wheat and rye. It is regarded as the "poor man's fertilizer," to say nothing of its value in getting up supply of wood for next summer. A sled is all right for hauling the wood out of the timber to cut up when the roads are so bad no hauling can be done and a time when it is a little too early to farm.

The man who would sneer at the runt pigs, perhaps knows but little about any other kind. There may be runts in every litter but the man who is up to snuff knows how to manage them.

Not every man can compost manure and get the best results out of it. As a rule one of the best ways to get good out of manure is to haul it directly to unplowed fields during the winter and before the fields are soft when it will be impossible to go on them with a team and wagon. Where manure can be spread well it will do good applied to winter wheat.

A few farmers still care for their implements when not in use on the "don't care" order. This is the kind of care that suits the manufacturer and dealer. The more don't care fellows there are the better it will be for the dealers' business.

Let a land purchaser go into a new country to buy land, and let all the people including the farmers themselves, say "Farmin' don't pay," and he will get out of the place as soon as he can. Land will be cheap there and farms go a-begging. Let him go where everybody says the farmer is the only man who is making money and let him try to buy a farm there. He will find few for sale and prices high. Some things can be killed off by popular grumbling. It reflects no credit on any man to tell that his uncle was hung. If there is a bright side, expose that to view first.

Many farmers in the west are wondering how much lighter land is going in price. I have in mind a man who had several thousand dollars and he bought farms and then sold them again, beginning about four years ago, and he has doubled his money in that time buying and selling. He bought every farm he heard of that was for sale and when he could sell at five dollars more per acre than he gave, he let go. It is hard to tell how much lighter land is going. It is already near the hundred mark in many localities. If cheap lands are to be obtained now one will have to go to the extreme northwest or east. Farms are now selling for less money in Indiana than in Iowa.

SCENE FROM THE BELLE OF NEW YORK

It will seem good to listen to Kerker's Champagne music once again and watch the gorgeous gaily of Hugh Morton's "Belle of New York" at the Myers Grand on Wednesday, February 12th, having kept the piece up to a high standard. No doubt there will be considerable curiosity to see E. J. Connelly in the role of Zebadiah Bronson, president of the Young Men's Rescue League and Anti-Cigarette Society of Cohoes. Mr. Connelly has established himself as a legitimate comedian by his admirable work as Joel Gates in "Shore Acres," and he has also given a taste

A farm without fruit and modern improvements is but a finger board pointing the children toward town. Poor rural schools will have the same tendency.

One of the great secrets of the dairy is to get the cows in the habit of giving milk; not only milk but plenty of it. Some cows give milk and others give trouble.

As the corn begins to be less apparent in the cribs there is a greater desire to sell the half-fatted steers. January was a great month for receipts of cattle showing the greatest number on record for January, but the amount of beef that will be obtained from them will not be as much as in former years. This shows that many cattle go to the market before they are ready. When corn is worth the price it is now, the cattle feeder has a problem before him. If the matter of saving corn and marketing cattle continues it will mean that ultimately fat cattle will bring a good price.

If a veterinarian says bran will kill a horse and the horse persists in eating it and is getting more lively all the time on it, we want to know whether we shall believe the veterinarian or the horse. The horse does know some things and this may be one of them.

The hen may act foolishly at times but she is no fool after all. The idle hen will fool around and not do much toward laying for a living, but the busy hen loses no time fooling around.

The man who wants to provide a good pasture, between now and grass so he can pasture it with the usual number of cattle and have full use of feed during the coming summer and at the same time obtain a first-class pasture, is seeking the same thing that the man who is looking for perpetual motion. Both are seeking an impossibility. Any intelligent person ought to know that to obtain a good pasture will require time, plenty of seed and good preparation of the soil, and that it must not be pastured until the grass gets a good strong hold on the soil.

The man who would find fault with the present method of rural free delivery because it keeps him from having an excuse to go to town, is certainly not very advanced in his thoughts. The great objection that some men have is that they cannot go to town for tobacco and attend clubs (street corner discussions) and now his wife can regulate the amount of tobacco he consumes and look after his club duties. The farmers with whom I am acquainted want the rural free delivery continued and extended. Those who do have it want it. The crusade against this delivery comes from small store keepers and second and third rate postmasters.

If pure bred animals cannot be kept it may be well to at least keep some of the high grades and try and get the grade higher. Too many grade cattle the wrong way; they are on the down grade. In grading up everything does not depend upon pedigree. It is a good deal but it must be accompanied by merit.

There is nothing like being prepared for a cold snap when it comes. If no preparation has been made for a cold spell, stock must suffer and not the one whose business is to prepare for cold weather.—Wisconsin Farmer.

FEBRUARY ATLANTIC.
Henry Loomis Nelson, the distinguished political writer, opens the February Atlantic with an appreciative article on Three Months of Theodore Roosevelt, in which he critically examines the event of the first three months, of the new administration in the light of President Roosevelt's well known character and characteristics. He sees very much to praise in what has already been accomplished, and boldly prophesies that the President "will influence for good politics of the country, help the blind to see the value of public chastity, and the deaf to hear the voices of the people greeting unselfish service in their behalf."

FEBRUARY "AMERICAN BOY."
The February American Boy (Sprague Publishing Co., Detroit, Mich.), comes to us suggestive of winter in its front cover illustration of boys coasting. The stories in this number will prove highly interesting to a live boy, and will not prove uninteresting to grown folks. They are: "The Great Kennebec Hill Race," "The Thrale Boys' Legacy," "Toby: A Story for Little Boys," "Fun and Profit in Trapping," "A Case of Mistaken Identity," "Trooper Stork," and "Working My Way around the World." Among the articles helpful to boys are: "Boys Get Strong," "Some Boys I Have Seen," "Familiar Talks with Boys," "For Boys to Think about," and "George Washington the Boy." Sixty eight illustrations. $1.00 per year. The Sprague Publishing Co., Detroit, Mich.

DON'T ACCEPT COUNTERFEITS.
For piles, skin diseases, sores, cuts, bruises, burns and other wounds nothing equals Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Don't get a counterfeit. One genuine exact DeWitt's. "I have suffered since 1885 with protruding, bleeding piles and until recently could find no permanent relief," says J. E. Gault of St. Paul, Minn. "Finally I tried DeWitt's Pink Pills which soon completely cured me."

Congregational Church Gathering.
The Loani Band of King's daughters will meet on Tuesday evening. Picnic tea at 6 o'clock.

The Monday club will meet in the church parlors on Monday evening at 7:30. Subject, "The Parables." Received into the church yesterday morning: Miss Minnie Aber, 257 S. Jackson street; Mrs. O. D. Sahlin, 4 Locust street; Mrs. Victoria Potter, 8 Forest Park Boulevard; Mr. Chas. Johnson, 202 Franklin street.

The home gathering will be the feature of the week. The afternoon session on Thursday will be at 3 o'clock. All the reports, except the clerk's report and the history, will be given in the afternoon. The roll will be called then also. The supper will be at six o'clock. It is expected that Mr. Mayne will be with us on the Home Gathering evening. It is suggested that as far as possible the children had best not come to the Home Gathering.

Cheap Home-seekers Excursions Via C. M. & St. P. Ry.

SPECIAL SERVICES OF LENTEN SEASON

Instructions in the Catholic Churches Yesterday to Observe the Laws of Fasting.

By regular Lenten rules as given out by Archbishop Katerer were read in the local Catholic churches yesterday, instructing all adults to observe the laws of fasting by the use of only one full meal each day, and on Wednesday and Fridays to abstain from all flesh meats. The announcements for the special services of the congregation during Lent were also made. The special services will consist of rosary, sermon and benediction of the blessed sacrament on Wednesday and Sunday evenings, and stations of the cross on Friday afternoons at 3:30 o'clock and Friday evenings at 7:30 o'clock.

Official announcement of the beginning of Lent was read at all of the Episcopal churches yesterday. Circular letters containing the list of services were distributed among the congregations.

Wrinkles are smoothed away by its healing touch. Brain tired and depressed people will find a cure in Rocky Mountain Tea. 35c. Smith's Pharmacy.

History of New York.

New York was named in honor of James, Duke of York, in 1654, at which time it was captured from the Dutch by the English. It then contained a population of about 3,000. The first settlement on Manhattan Island was made by the Dutch in 1614, and the first public wharf was built as late as 1658. Less than 300 years have passed since the first occupancy of the spot on which now stands New York, and in less than two and a half centuries her population has increased from 3,000 to 3,500,000.

Clever Ragsman's Lift.

An ingenious time-saving appliance for transshipping mails and baggage in connection with the cross-channel service has been brought into operation at Dover, England. The appliance is in the form of an endless traveling platform and is worked by electricity. It brings packages of any weight ashore at the rate of one in fifteen seconds. Some of the packages unloaded recently weighed seven hundredweight, and required four men to lift them, but they were brought ashore as easily as a handbag. The transshipment was performed in less than half the usual time.

Gorky's Popularity.

Maxim Gorky, author of "Foma Godyeff," the most successful Russian writer of fiction, now that Tolstoy has practically ceased from active literary work, is exceedingly popular with his countrymen. Upon a recent occasion, when he attended a play, the public cheered him frantically. He stood up in the theater and shouted: "I am not a ballet dancer nor a Venus de Milo. What are you staring at me for? Keep your eyes on the stage!"

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

The Era for February.

The February number of the Philadelphia magazine "The Era," appears to be quite up to the high level set by its predecessors. Mrs. Helen Marsh Wilson has a very interesting illustrated article on the Prehistoric Ruins of Southern Colorado, with some graphic illustrations of the remains of the mysterious cliff-dwellers. There are numerous other articles of interest in this February magazine. In fiction the most important contribution is the second installment containing four more chapters of Joel Chandler Harris' new serial story, Gabriel Tolliver.

CURRENT HISTORY FOR FEB.

Current History for February presents a record of the world's events during December last and closes the eleventh volume of this valuable chronicle. A striking portrait of Secretary Hay is the frontispiece of this

BEFORE THE COURT.

SOME FAMOUS CASES OF MILITARY TRIAL AND INQUIRY.

Captain Barron's Appeal to the Code of War of 1812 and the Revolution. Marshals of the Empire Under Ban. General Porter's Long Fight.

(Copyright, 1901, by G. L. Kilmer.)

At last the public has reason to hope that a celebrated war mystery will be cleared up during the lifetime of the principals and chief participants. There have been comparatively few courts of inquiry in American history. Had there been more of them there would be fewer scandalous things for historians to exploit in pages prepared for general reading.

American naval annals are quite free from cases that even so much as suggested court proceedings. The most noted, because followed by a sad tragedy, was the court martial of Captain James Barron of the United States navy for having surrendered some alleged deserters to an English ship of war in 1807. He was found guilty and suspended for a long term. Finally, when he asked for orders, Commodore Decatur, who was on the naval board, defeated his appointment to duty and was challenged and killed by Barron. There were two sides to this case, and some naval reviewers held that Barron only acted according to the orders of the state department in surrendering the deserters. A court of inquiry might have brought out facts to exonerate Barron, but public feeling ran high at that time over British outrages on the high seas. Barron's ship, the Chesapeake, was not prepared for battle and struck after firing one shot. He was convicted on the charge of failing to clear ship for action when there was prospect of an engagement.

The war of 1812 had an army case which a court of inquiry might have passed upon more justly than the court martial which resulted. General William Hull was court martialled and sentenced to be shot for cowardice in failing to attack the British on the Canada border in time to save Detroit. The unjust sentence was never carried out, and history has declared that Hull was made a scapegoat to save the administration from contempt in failing to send troops and provisions to the army of the north.

General Charles Lee's trial and conviction was the one great court sensation of the Revolution. He was convicted by a court martial for cowardice in ordering a retreat in the presence of the enemy without fighting to see which side had the best of the situation, for disobedience of orders and for disrespect to his superior. The case led to a duel between the angry adventurer and Washington's friend and aid-de-camp, General Henry Laurens.

Napoleon's career developed the most sensational case in the annals of war in the trial of Marshal Ney. After the first overthrow of Napoleon, Ney, one of the bravest of the brave among the republican and imperial leaders, gave his allegiance to the royalist government. When Napoleon suddenly returned from exile, Ney held aloof until he saw his battalions enthusiastic for the man of destiny. He yielded and was given command of the corps which led the way to Waterloo. A royalist court found Ney guilty of treason and executed him.

Great military failures are fruitful in courts of inquiry and courts martial. In 1870 the French vented their wrath upon Marshal Bazaine, who seems to have richly deserved it. Three years after the war he was convicted by the unanimous voice of a military court of having needlessly surrendered the fortress of Metz without fighting and so conducted negotiations with the enemy as to demoralize the troops under him and render them useless for battle. The penalty was death, but his old comrade, Marshal MacMahon, then president of France, commuted it to imprisonment for 20 years. After serving a few months in prison he escaped by the aid of his devoted Mexican wife and passed his days in Spain.

Conduct of the kind alleged in the case of Admiral Schley, disobedience of orders and faulty tactics in sailing the "loop," may be and often is dealt with by the superior officer without bringing the matter before any court. The commander may rather evidence if he does not possess it first hand and remove the offender from his position. If the latter make protest, then the only recourse is a court.

During the civil war the United States congress appointed a body known as the committee on the conduct of the war, which exercised the functions of an investigating committee and a court of inquiry. The highest generals of the army, including Grant and McClellan, were haled before it and cross questioned upon the most intricate and delicate points of military science and practice. Before this court Grant once confessed that he as general in chief and all his subordinates had been guilty of negligence in a case which ended in a grave military disaster. But for the happy issue of the war and the ascendancy of the war party in politics Grant and possibly Sherman would have been before courts of inquiry called by friends in order to clear them of scandalous charges or by enemies to defame them. It was Sherman who made the significant remark, "Grant would not have been heard of after Donelson if C. J. Smith had lived." The conduct of both Sherman and Grant at Shiloh, the burning of Columbia by Sherman's troops and the firing of Richmond after Grant's capture, as well as the length and the bloodiness of the Wilderness campaign, were questions discussed with great acrimony in the years following the war.

General Braxton Bragg's famous Confederate campaign into Kentucky in the summer of 1862 resulted in one court of inquiry, while a second was only escaped by accident. General Don Carlos Buell, the commander who reinforced Grant at Shiloh in nick of time, led the Federal force opposed to Bragg in Kentucky. He was suspended from command and "before a military commission" ordered by the secretary of war nearly a year. The Buell case is similar to that of Schley, except that the government took the initiative against Buell. The Buell commission was instructed to investigate specifically Buell's suffering Kentucky to be invaded by Bragg, his failure to relieve the post at Munfordsville, which was in Bragg's pathway and captured by his troops, the battle of Perryville and Buell's conduct there and permitting Bragg's army to escape without loss from Kentucky. Lew Wallace was president of the commission. As might be expected, the body, composed wholly of military men, displayed wonderful hindsight and devoted a twelvemonth and 700 octavo pages haled by the father of shorthand, Benn Pitman, and illuminated by the evidence of Parson Brownlow and Andy Johnson to the illustration of military "might have beens." The result was simply the criticism of several military blunders upon the campaigns of another military mind. Grant showed his opinion of it by immediately asking for the assignment of Buell to the command of an army under him. So much for Buell and the Kentucky campaign.

Bragg's subordinates thought that the Confederate army which had marched to the banks of the Ohio and back again without a stunning defeat, at least, had been badly handled by the hero of Buena Vista and made their growls heard in Richmond. Bragg was relieved from his command by Jeff Davis and ordered to present himself before a military council in Richmond. Owing to the serious illness of his wife he received a respite of a few days, and then the officer who had been detailed to supersede him was disabled from duty, the enemy was marching upon the Confederate camp, and Bragg went back to his command in time to share with "Old Ross" the glories of the drawn battle of Murfreesboro.

The posthumous courts of inquiry which furnished the country with sensational materials were those in the G. K. Warren and Fitz John Porter cases. Warren had been relieved from command on the heels of a splendid victory by his corps at Five Forks. He secured a court in 1879, which exonerated him with little qualification of four grave imputations in the final reports of Grant and Sheridan, especially Sheridan's statement that in a certain crisis of the battle Warren did not exert himself as Sheridan thought he should. The court found that Warren was at the time exerting himself in another direction, "the essential point to be attended to." This essential point was the turning one in the victory which gave Sheridan his glory.

Fitz John Porter's case had four stages—first, a court of inquiry ordered by the president because of certain charges against Porter in the report of his former superior, General Pope; second, a military commission ordered by the general of the army to inquire into the same charges; third, a court mar-

ADMIRAL WINFIELD SCOTT SCHLEY, U. S. N., that on charges preferred by a staff officer of General Pope; fourth, a board of officers appointed at the instance of General Porter by President Hayes in 1878 to inquire into the justice of the findings of the court martial.

The first court of inquiry dissolved without taking action. The military commission met and adjourned without action. The court martial found Porter guilty of disobedience of orders and failure to attack, and he was cashiered and forever disqualified from holding any office of trust and profit under the government of the United States. The Hayes board of officers found that Porter's conduct was obedient, subordinate, faithful and judicious and saved Pope's army from disaster. In 1880 Porter was relieved from his sentence, restored to the army and honorably retired. All of which goes to show that there is ample room for difference of opinion as to what takes place in the heat of battle.

Tired

that's all. No energy, no vim, no vigor, no ambition. The head aches, thoughts are confused, memory fails. Life becomes a round of work but half accomplished, of eating that does not nourish, of sleep that fails to refresh and of resting that never rests. That's the beginning of nervous prostration.

"I was very nervous and so tired and exhausted that I could not do my work. One dose of Dr. Miles' Nervine quieted my nerves and drove away the lassitude. Seven bottles did wonders in restoring my health."

IRON AND STEEL.

Rogers, Brown & Co., say: "It is now clearly proved that the product of merchant pig iron of the United States is for next six months nearly sold. For the remaining five months of the year, approximately one-third is sold. We are, therefore, within bounds in saying that less than 33 per cent. of the pig iron production of the country, which will come to the market in 1902 remains unsold. This remnant is being taken up at a rate that alarms sellers. Until a week ago many furnaces were disposed to make slight concessions for contracts July to December. Now top prices are asked, and in some cases sellers have retired entirely until they can see where they are going to land. "The car situation is again bad, and if not soon improved, further curtailment of output of pig iron seems certain. Railroads everywhere report more business than they can handle."—Wall Street Journal.

J. Pierpont Morgan evidently knew what he was talking about when he said that prosperity would continue through the year. The railroads are always a good barometer of business and never in their history have they been so rushed as at the present time. It was generally supposed that the drought last summer, which so seriously effected crops, would result in a heavy shrinkage of railroad tonnage but this has not been the case. The receipts of corn in Chicago in January last, was over 11,000,000, as compared with 22,000,000 in January 1901. Under ordinary conditions this loss would have been seriously felt, but general business has been so good, that the roads are taxed beyond capacity, and the corn loss has not been recognized. On the other hand prices of cereals have so materially advanced that the half crop of corn realizes more money than the full crop before.

There has never been a time in history, when confidence was more completely enjoyed than at the present time. Men have confidence in each other, and confidence in themselves, and both are necessary to any degree of success. The man who hesitates to trust the judgment of experience in lines of business with which he is not familiar, will never contribute very largely to progress and development, and the man who lacks confidence in his own ability usually becomes a dependent employee. "Nothing ventured, nothing had" is an old truism. The present age is venturesome, and more or less speculative, while the latter is dangerous when applied to commercial business and not usually practiced, the former is a wholesome tonic to any business, and during an era of prosperity like the present, men can afford to reach out for trade, and depend with certainty on well directed energy for results. It will be difficult to hire special trains for $55 per day if good times continue, and if the governor expects to do any traveling during the campaign, it will be well for his general contractor to visit the market early.

SECRETARY HEIMSTREET

The announcement that Secretary Heimstreet is not to succeed himself on the State Board of Pharmacy will be a surprise to his many friends throughout the state. Mr. Heimstreet has been connected with the board for many years, and his executive ability was soon recognized by conferring upon him the office of Secretary. He is a tireless worker and the success of the organization is largely due to his intelligent and faithful service.

Every druggist in Dane and Rock county is in favor of his re-appointment and at the last meeting of the board the same desire was expressed by a large majority of the members present. This is the first time in the history of the organization, when a governor has taken advantage of arbitrary authority in making appointments. There is only one reasonable construction to be placed on his action and that is that the governor wanted the place for a Milwaukee man, who could do him some good politically. Mr. Heimstreet was in every way qualified for the position, he is not a politician, and the board is not political. He has the misfortune to live in a county that possesses the temerity to have a candidate for governor, and that was enough to condemn him.

The governor may imagine that this sort of politics will add to his waning popularity, but it is simply one more blunder added to the list for which his administration is noted. Mr. Heimstreet has a host of friends both at home and throughout the state who will resent the threatment, by not forgetting the injustice.

The governor should send his two extra game wardens into Rock county.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK IN GERMANY

The season of business depression that has afflicted Germany during the past year, shows signs of improvement, and the outlook for 1902 is en-

Street Journal, recently said, that an idea of conditions prevailing last year would be recognized in the fact that 180 Berlin firms in the foundry machine and electric industries appealed to the Prussian Ministry to give them work, at the bare cost of production in order to prevent the further discharge of employees.

American competition is keenly felt in Germany and but for retaliatory laws, which are prohibitive on some lines, the rivalry would be still more apparent. What both nations need from a standpoint, is trade relations on a reciprocal basis, that will be of mutual advantage. If the visit of Prince Henry should result in a better understanding, it will accomplish more than simply an exchange of courtesies.

HEN STATISTICS.

Some enterprising statesman has recently taken an interest in hens. As the result of careful investigation he reports that all the hens in the country were scattered along the 190,000 miles of railroad, that there would be an egg produced every four feet. That if all the eggs furnished for a year by this string of fowls, put into an egg, that it would be 150 miles long, 100 miles wide and would weigh four times as much as all the navies of the world. This is his first effort on hens. If the story meets with the credence to which he thinks it is entitled, he will undertake to describe what a chicken will do if the tariff was removed on eggs.

There was something radically wrong in the methods used to arrive at values when the last tax assessment was levied. In Whitewater, a house and lot was assessed for $300 more than the owner paid for it and property has not advanced. In Evansville, a widow woman, dependent on charity for support, has a little home which she has been trying to sell for $1,700. The assessors called it worth $2,400. Full valuation as a basis is not a success.

The success of Mr. Bryan is largely due to the fact that he has faith in himself. His latest venture is a book of last year's editorials in the Commoner, which he proposes to sell at 25 and 50 cents. They seem so logical and attractive to him, that he imagines that his readers will appreciate a chance to read them again. The average editorial writer feels that he is in great luck if people wade through productions once.

Dr. Russell, of Brooklyn, who has recently offered himself to the profession for experimental purposes in vivisection, is properly named by the Chicago Post, which says that he is not a fanatic, but a lunatic. The erratic doctor has a wife and two children who have exhausted every effort to save the man from his infatuation. He will doubtless escape as surgeons will be slow to accept his offer.

The new woman is banking on sympathy and support from President Roosevelt in an effort to secure national legislation favorable to woman suffrage. The president is too domestic in taste and environment to become very enthusiastic over a bid of that kind.

About one session of the legislature for the biennial period, is all the state can endure. An extra session to provide more taxes, when a million surplus is already in the treasury would be a waste of time and energy. The one mill microbe has "got in its work."

The Detroit woman, who was married to the spirit of a man, who was called back by a medium, is having some trouble with the head, of the house about kindling the morning fire and shoveling snow.

PRESS COMMENT

Stoughton Hub: One thing can be put down for a certainty—the money that greases the 11th floor movement does not come out of the state treasury. And with equal certainty that the money paid to the game wardens and all inspectors who are traveling the length and breadth of the state doing missionary work for their chief does come out of the state treasury. Uncle Jerry was wont to say, "Which is the worse?"

The Witness has never believed that the executive branch of the state government should be paramount to the legislature. There may be times when from a legal standpoint it may seem policy to use the veto privilege but when it comes to an attempt at forcing a legislature to accept and adopt the individual views of a governor or a candidate for that office, merely because he insists on having his own way, it looks like carrying the thing too far. The republican party has had a little experience in this matter before.—Grant County Witness.

Milton Telephone: Those people who are displaced because the oil inspector's office in this village was discontinued ought to appeal to Dr. Roberts. An administration oil inspector here would take a lot of work off the veterinarian's shoulders.

The Milwaukee Wisconsin argues that ships are being built in a more seaworthy manner nowadays, but what hurts the feelings of the public the most is the fact that the size of the Milwaukee schooners is gradually growing smaller.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

Milwaukee News: The Chicago News observes that while Mayor Rose might do for vice-president, there is a suspicion that he would smell as sweet in a less exalted position.

Sant is quite certain that Minnesota laws are sufficient to defeat the proposed railroad merger. However, if some sporting gentleman were to make a winter book on the contest the odds would be about ten to one against the governor's proposition.

Durand Clipper: Thirty years ago Henry C. Payne was clerking in a dry goods store, and Leslie M. Shaw was peddling fruit trees for a living. The other day both were confirmed for positions in the cabinet. There is hope then for the dry goods clerk and the tree peddler.

Evening Wisconsin: The Kenosha couple who notified their parents one morning that they would be married in the evening were not quite as sensational as the Chicago couple who used to come to Milwaukee to be wedded and then go home and tell the "old folks."

Eau Claire Telegram: Distance lends so much enchantment to the Marinette Star that it asserts the Seventh Congressional district is for L. A. Follette. Go away from home to hear the news—at least, such news as that.

Milwaukee Journal: Perhaps when the state factory inspectors get through cleaning up politics, they will be in condition to look through the Fox river paper mills and order reforms.

Lent looms up in the near future and what will the card parties do then?—Marinette Eagle.

AN EAR TO THE GROUND.

There is a well grounded suspicion that congress has rushed through the repeal of the war revenue taxes in order to afford an excuse for making no concessions to Cuba. There has evidently been a tremendous pressure brought to bear against granting reciprocity to Cuba, which has proved stronger than the people's or president's wishes. It is understood now that the president is willing to accept a compromise by a 20 per cent reduction but the people will not. It is like the 15 per cent tariff on Porto Rico that so nearly wrecked the Republican party two years ago. Senator Spooner has a well developed plan which will avoid all interference with home industries, and will at the same time afford relief to the suffering island. Let Congress keep one ear to the ground, and it will hear something moving in the back districts if the people's wishes are not listened to.—Marinette Eagle.

Exciting Runaway A horse hitched to an open buggy ran away this noon through the Fourth ward and ended up by taking a plunge into the river through the lee. Near the Jefferson warehouse above the Northwestern railroad bridge in Spring Brook. The horse ran out into the ice near the pumping station and continued on down as far as the bend in the river. Here it struck a thin place in the ice and went in all over. Word was sent to Robinson's brewery near by and several men hastened over with ropes and after half an hour's work succeeded in getting the outfit ashore. The horse was in the river quite a while and was badly chilled.

EMPLOYEES MUST BE VACCINATED

Orders From the St. Paul Road to the Men Employed in This City.

The C. M. & St. P. R. R. started this morning to put new piles and timbers in their bridge across the river below the upper dam and also across the race. A pile driver and construction crew are engaged in the work.

Agent W. A. Johnson of the St. Paul road in this city this morning received a telegram from Supt. P. C. Eldredge of the Mineral Point division notifying him that all employees of the road in this city must be vaccinated at once. Mr. Eldredge also asked how many cases of small pox there were in the city and the general condition of the patients.

Now that smallpox is raging all over the state and adjoining states, the railroad companies are taking extra precautions to prevent the spread of the disease and in case that an afflicted person is found on a train, the train men will not be afraid to look out for a patient until a hospital is reached.

There are at least three or four cases of the disease in town at the present time. One doctor prominent in practice reported two new cases yesterday. The disease has not yet reached any alarming proportions but it is liable to before spring.

Health Officer Fifield is doing all in his power to keep the disease down and a strict quarantine is being maintained at every point.

WORK WELL UNDER WAY

Contractors Commenced This Morning on the Ziegler Tailoring Parlors.

The work of remodeling the new tailoring establishment on Main street to be operated in connection with the T. J. Ziegler clothing store is now well in hand. Carpenters, paperhangers and painters are rushing the work along so that the opening may take place on schedule time which is about the fifteenth of this month. When finished the store will be second to none in this portion of the state. The greater portion of space will be devoted for the display of patterns and in this department alone the purchaser will have the advantage of a selection second to none in the large cities. This one point alone will fill a long felt want in this city the trouble for many years having been in the small amount of goods kept in stock. Mr. Ziegler has arrived in the city from Chicago and will oversee the work of remodeling.

TO SUPPRESS THE SWEAT SHOP EVIL

Society Ladies Taking a Hand in the Matter—The Mode of

A movement is on foot in this city to help in the suppressing of the sweat shop evil by making an open fight against the shops where they could do no good but taking another course.

The leader in the movement in each city is usually one of the leading society ladies of the town and one who has considerable influence with other people in her class and other classes.

The mode of procedure by which they expect to win the fight is the following. The society lady has a paper which she circulates among her friends asking them for their signatures, and that they will fill out an attached blank declaring that they would not purchase or buy any underwear except that which had the union label on it and was not made in sweat shops.

The ladies hope by this means to shut off the sale of sweat shop goods and force the people who are handling them to buy only union label goods. The sweat shops are not run by union labor and the contractors pay what price they please. When once the store that handles sweatshop goods realizes that it is losing customer after customer for this reason they will stop buying the sweatshop goods and buy stuff that is O. K.

The sweatshop evil has grown immensely during the last few years and a great majority of the people who buy the goods, buy them because they are cheap without any regard to where they are made and in this way encourage the sweatshops.

The society ladies say it does no good to try to fight the shops through the police or the legislature, but think they have discovered a way to bring the owners of the shops to time.

Already in this city a list has been circulated and a large number of signatures obtained. The signers here are the members of a league that is in operation over the United States and claim that sooner or later the sweatshops will be driven out of existence. A preconcerted movement of the league all over the United States will do much toward wiping out this nuisance.

ATHLETIC CHANGES
MADE AT BELOIT

Student Management Will Have to Go
On Account of Fights Among Fraternities.

Strife between the fraternity and non-fraternity men of Beloit college has at last resulted in the abolishment of student management of athletics. Last night in an address to the students at the beginning of the second semester, Acting President Collier announced that the change must be made and that in the future the board of control would be abolished and a graduate manager appointed to assist Coach Hollister.

For the past three years, the battle for athletic control has been bitterly fought by the fraternity men on one side and the "barbs" or non-fraternity men on the other, and there is no doubt that the ill feeling engendered at these times has had a bad effect upon the work in athletics, despite the remarkable loyalty of the students of Beloit to their school. In every election in the past three years these lines have been drawn with the one exception, when Ed. Merrill was chosen captain of the track team last fall. Such good men as Merle Adams and Bobby Blewett of the baseball team and Will Allen and Don Slater of the football teams have been bowled over on account of the opposition developed in these fights and in more than one case the school has suffered severely in the loss of good men.

The growth of athletics at Beloit makes it imperative that the student control be abolished without delay as the details now involved require the services of an experienced man. Beloit this year will sign the conference rules, and will meet the different teams of all the leading schools of the west, and good management is essential.

Coach Hollister is elated with the treatment afforded him last week at Minneapolis, where he went to arrange baseball and football dates. The Minnesota management seemed most eager that relations with Beloit should be resumed and granted Beloit the best contracts in the history of the school.

ELEVEN DIE
IN HOTEL FIRE

Many Injured by Jumping from Second and Third Story Windows.

CREMATED IN THEIR ROOMS.

Escape by the Stairways Is Cut Off by The Flames, Causing a Panic Among the Victims—One Woman Is Among Those Killed.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 10.—Ten men and one woman were killed outright and a score were hurt early yesterday morning in the flames that destroyed the Empire hotel or in the panic attendant upon the efforts of the thirty-six guests to escape certain death. Most of the guests had been roused from sleep by loud cries of fire. Dressed only in their night clothes, choking with bitter smoke and frantic with intense heat, they rushed pell-mell for the stairways, only to find them blocked by leaping flames and dense smoke. Without considering for a single instant the peril of jumping or the zero weather, the occupants of the fast burning structure smashed window panes and leaped out to the pavement, some from the third story, some from the second and still others from the first floor.

More than a dozen of those who jumped were badly injured. One was killed. The fire had gained such headway before it was discovered at 3:30 o'clock that there was no possibility of passing through any of the halls to the exit doors. The interior of the hotel was a seething furnace and the only way to get out was by the windows. Several of the guests were unable to get to the windows, and their bodies were found, charred almost or fully beyond recognition.

The damage done to the building, which was thirty years old, is about $20,000.

The dead: A. J. Allen, C. F. Cantor, S. T. Corey, Toke Davis, Sarah Harris, John C. Lueders, father of Deputy City Marshal Leo Lueders; Vance Marlin, Indianapolis, Ind.; J. A. McMullen, George Thompson, B. F. Woodley, Morris Yall.

The injured: Harry Cline of Marion, Ill.; Walter Johnson, J. J. Lally, George Lane, Henry Robinson, Cornelius Ray, Surgeon, Harry Thompson, Nashville, Tenn.

Ten or twelve other persons were less seriously injured, being bruised, burned or suffering from exposure.

HEAVY FIRE LOSS AT BROOKLYN.

Shadbolt Manufacturing Co.'s Plant
Burned—Fourteen People Injured.

New York, Feb. 10.—An official estimate of the damage done by the fire which destroyed the plant of the Shadbolt Manufacturing Company in Brooklyn early yesterday morning fixes the loss at $300,000. Fourteen people were injured. The injured: Patrick Nevins, Edward Treuer, William Moran, George Conran, Captain Oswald, Joseph Kelly, Louis Jerosky, Henry J. R. Taber, Peter F. Martin, Edward Hobby, William Moore, John Kelly, Joseph Kelly, Stephen Delap.

The loss to the Shadbolt company is given as $250,000, fully covered. It is said, by insurance. The total loss to the other building in the vicinity is placed at $50,000.

Chicago Theater Burns.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—For the fourth time within as many years the Orpheum Music hall building was discovered in flames shortly after midnight this morning, and before the arrival of the fire apartment the entire structure was doomed. Several inmates were injured and had narrow escapes from death. A man and a woman who usually slept on the fourth floor and Mrs. Burns, a costumer, are supposed to have perished.

Elberton's Loss Is $150,000.

Elberton, Ga., Feb. 10.—Fire yesterday destroyed nearly all of the business section of this place, doing damage which is estimated at $150,000. The city has no fire protection and the bucket brigades formed by citizens were of little avail.

Scottsville, Ky., Feb. 10.—All the north end of the public square burned yesterday morning, the loss being estimated at $30,000.

Student's Home in Ashes.

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 10.—Fire at an early hour yesterday damaged the Beta Theta Pi Chapter house several thousand dollars. It is occupied by twenty-five young men of the University of Indiana, who lost their clothing and books.

Two Children Cremated.

New York, Feb. 10.—Jennie and Elsie Berlinger, aged 8 and 6 years, respectively, children of Dr. R. Berlinger, were suffocated during a fire in their father's residence. The children were in a room on the top floor and efforts to reach them were unavailing.

Railroad Pier Destroyed.

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 10.—Fire destroyed pier G of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company yesterday, and the loss, including damage to shipping, is $50,000.

BANK FAILURE IN CITY OF DETROIT

Cashier Loaned His Cousin, a Railroad Promoter, Vast Sums Unknown to Directors.

Detroit, Feb. 10.—The City Savings bank closed its doors this morning. Money advanced to street railway promoters is said to be the reason. The bank's failure is attributed to unlimited credit extended to Frank Andrews, a railway promoter, by the cashier, who is his cousin, without consulting the bank's directors. Andrews will make an assignment for upwards of two millions. The school board has a half million on deposit in the bank and the library fund a quarter of a million. Andrews had $662,900 in the bank in certified checks and $314,000 in overdrafts.

Death of Mrs. Jennie C. Ottman, sixty-six years of age, a former resident of this city died Sunday at the home of her son, J. L. Ottman, Laural, Miss. She was the widow of G. L. Ottman, who died in Chicago about six years ago. She leaves surviving her one son, J. L. Ottman, of Laural, Miss., at whose home she died. She was a noble Christian woman who will be greatly missed by her friends. Her remains will be brought to Janesville on the noon train Tuesday and will be taken to Oak Hill for interment.

The asserting room of Geo. H. Rumrill on Center Avenue, started this morning with about thirty people at work. Mr. Rumrill has tobacco enough in sight to keep the above force at work for several months.

ADMIRAL SAMPSON IS DYING.

Fails to Recognize Members of His Family at the Bedside.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Rear Admiral Sampson was retired yesterday, having reached the age of 62. He is unconscious of the fact, as he lies at the point of death. He is unable to recognize even the members of his family who surround his bedside. Three days ago he was so ill that his physicians believed he was at the point of death. Since then he has rallied slightly and it is possible that his life may be prolonged for a few weeks.

WILL CELEBRATE HUGO'S BIRTH

Centenary Anniversary Celebrations in Paris, Feb. 10.—The centenary of the birth of Victor Hugo will be celebrated in Paris with great brilliancy. The festivities are to last six days from Feb. 25 to March 2, inclusive. The most imposing ceremony will be held in the Pantheon on Feb. 26. A monument to Victor Hugo will be inaugurated in the afternoon.

ODD FELLOWS.

Proposed Change of Sovereign Law, Lodge Linklets.

The grand encampment of Pennsylvania recently considered a resolution instructing the representatives to the sovereign grand lodge to endeavor to have the laws so amended governing the patriarchal branch of the fraternity that a member once joining an encampment cannot, as at present, lose his membership because the lodge to which he belongs surrenders its charter or he fails to keep himself in good standing in his lodge. The intent of the measure, which has many supporters, is that a member shall not lose his membership in the encampment for any reason or cause except by the action solely of that encampment, so that, although he may cease to be a lodge member, he can still remain in good standing among the patriarchs.

The indications are that a splendid contest will take place for the office of grand secretary of Pennsylvania election next March.

Grand Sir Cable recently visited Pittsburgh and conferred the grand decoration of chivalry on those entitled to receive it.

In 1868 the privilege was lodged for the organization of Rebekah lodges of which women might become the officers; also that they might confer the degree on their own candidates.

In all successful endeavor there must be a purpose and a will, and no purpose, however worthy, can be made successful unless the will power makes it effective.

The Odd Fellows' home at Clarksville, Tenn., has been visited by severe storms twice within the past few weeks.

The law of Missouri says unless there is some great necessity for doing so the records should not be taken from the lodgeroom.

The grand officers of Massachusetts recently instituted a lodge at Charlestown. There were ten charter members and sixty initiates.

Hicks lodge of Waverly, one of the oldest in Illinois, has received in its fifty years of existence $21,000 and paid out over $15,000.

The lodgeroom meetings, the ritualistic and unwritten work, the excellence of the degree staff and the richest paraphernalia are valuable agencies in the education and development of the principles of Odd Fellowship, but all these to be effective, real and practical must be supplemented by the sentiment of friendship based on the power of love.

A subordinate lodge is thought to be but half equipped for the work now unless there is working hand in hand with it a Rebekah lodge.

Fussy as an Old Maid.

Ibsen's writing table is always covered with letters, all of which have been cut open with the greatest care, the post being as fussy in this matter as an old maid. He keeps no secretary, and writes all his own letters, as he does not like to dictate.
